

Valerie G. Lowe, associate editor, is an award-winning journalist. She reports on topics ranging from the black church and Christian TV to gangs, single parenting and pop culture. Valerie has interviewed well-known people, including actor Denzel Washington, actress Ashley Judd and the late civil rights leader Coretta Scott King. A women's leader in her church, she is the founder of Keep the Faith Single Moms ministry. She enjoys spending time with her daughter, parents and six siblings.